Medical Ethics and Law

Date:	23rd January 2025
Location:	Virtual Delivery Via Zoom
CPD Points:	6
Times:	9:00am-4:00pm
Facilitator:	Martin McGill

All healthcare professionals, and particularly doctors', are working in an environment which is changing its perception of the doctor/patient relationship, therefore it is important for the profession, and the healthcare system as a whole, to respond to these changing public and political expectations.

Measurable Aims: At the end of this programme, the delegate can:

- Describe the overriding principle of the GMC's code of conduct
- Outline the 4 pillars of medical ethics
- Name the 4 elements of Clinical Negligence
- Name and describe the 6 elements within Clinical Governance
- Critique your own behaviours and practice in line with the NHS Leadership Competency framework.

The Programme Includes:

Session 1: The duties and responsibilities of a doctor

- Governance framework within which a doctor works

Session 2: Good Medical Practice – ethical guidance

- The four pillars of medical ethics and their importance for doctors

Session 3: Litigation and legal issues in medical practice

- Clinical Negligence

Session 4: Responding to the risks

- Quality and Patient Safety
