

The Yorkshire School of Paediatrics

Teaching & Supervision Skills

Aims:

This full interactive day is aimed at giving you the insight and practical skills to be able to deliver an effective teaching session. Based on some well-known educational principles, the day also explores how to construct learning outcomes and how to deliver effective feedback.

Learning outcomes

By the end of the session and completing the pre-course preparation (teaching):

- you will understand the educational theory that supports adult learning
- you will have explored the modalities of teaching and when the different uses may be appropriate
- understand the importance of learning outcomes and how to effectively write them
- Understand how to give effective feedback
- Reflect on your own teaching style and some of the barriers to an effective teaching
